

17th May, 2021

To: Dr. Tatiana Borisova, Palladin Institute of Biochemistry (NAS Ukraine)

Dear Dr. Borisova,

We are very pleased and honored to award you the Frontiers in Physiology 2021 Outstanding Associate Editor Award – Specialty Section Environmental, Aviation and Space Physiology.

Your leadership and support to the Editorial Office contributed massively to the growth and reputation of the journal. Your dedication in ensuring fair and constructive peer-review, as well as your contributions to the journal further strengthen our Open Access model and philosophy, to which we are immensely grateful.

Frontiers in Physiology – Environmental, Aviation and Space Physiology's fantastic achievements last year would not have been possible without your dedication, drive and engagement, and the journal owes its success to you.

We look forward to continuing our excellent collaboration for the year to come.

With best regards,

Georgina Harris, PhD

Journal Manager
Frontiers in Physiology | Editorial Office
Publishing Development
Frontiers
www.frontiersin.org
Avenue du Tribunal Fédéral 34
Lausanne, Switzerland
Office T + 41 21 510 17 64